

The Valve Museum

Updates January 2022

The 2018 search facility for finding details of unknown valve types has been re-named Type Finder and advertised on the r-type site after one user suggested that such a facility may prove useful. Indeed, it has!

No connection or no pin is represented by nc. It was found that some exhibits used a hyphen rather than nc. About 2,500 exhibits have been manually changed and, in the process, spelling errors etc. have been corrected.

This data cleaning then extended to the illustrations. 565 main exhibit images have been revised to improve clarity and remove colour casts from the early tungsten lighting.